

Dr. Huge Brain

Dr. Huge Brain has a problem. His funding of his corn research is almost gone. Unless he and his team are able to find more funding, they will be shut down. Tomorrow, he is supposed to present the results of his team's work to the president of the university. If she likes the research, then they will continue his funding. This will enable thwm to work on more corn research.

Unfortunately, a strong thunderstorm has caused the university to lose power and it won't be back on until after his meeting. Because all the computers are down with the power outage, Dr. Brain must break into his research using manual locks. Yet, he doesn't have much time left to get them open. As a member of Dr. Brain's scientific team, your task is solve the problems so Dr. Brain can open all of the locks and retrieve the research. Use all of you corn knowledge to breakout! Good Luck; Dr. Huge Brain is counting on you!